Twins - but a school year apart

Mr and Mrs Caldwell with Lexus and Amber

One newborn twin sister may be only 45 minutes older than the other but she is already a year ahead – a school year, that is, as they were born either side of midnight. Lexus was born at 11.40pm on August 31. Amber followed by Caesarean section at 0.25am on September 1. But their parents are determined to keep the girls together – even if it means moving abroad. “How could I keep one at home and send one to school? My family live in Spain and they have a different academic year – we’d rather move out there than split up the twins. Doing everything together is what being a twin is all about,” said their mother Sarah.

18-year-old girl turned idea into million$

1 Catherine Cook is 18 years old and she's already a self-made millionaire! She is the co-founder of MyYearbook.com, a social networking website for high school students. MyYearbook.com employs 70 people, and has ten million users. "We are the fastest-growing social network on the Web," Catherine says from her trendy office where she works 60 hours a week in addition to going to school.

2 In 2005 Catherine and her brother Dave - who's a year older - were flipping through a yearbook during the spring break. They saw the name of a girl they both knew but her picture looked nothing like her. "These old yearbooks really sucked, they badly needed updating," Catherine smiles. "We thought it would be a great idea to put a yearbook online. Why not have a profile page that can list your TV interests, the music you like, your hobbies and updating the page is your own responsibility".

3 Catherine and Dave knew nothing about building a website but family help was at hand. Their older brother Geoff, then 26, who had already made an internet fortune while studying at Harvard University, invested some money to get them started. So they could recruit a team of programmers and started the site in just six weeks. In the first week 300 people from their high school signed up.

4 Teenagers from all over the country came to the site and they were followed by investors and advertisers who very much wanted to reach the teen audience. Sixty-five per cent of the site's users are under 18.

5 The site is free and gives every student an online 'yearbook'. Students digitally sign each other's yearbooks and can vote for the classmate with the 'best eyes' or for the 'cutest couple', among other categories. They can also share music, photos and videos. Students can 'flirt', 'battle' and 'secretly admire' one another with the click of a mouse. "We take social games to a new level," Dave said.

6 Catherine still lives with her mother in Skillman, New Jersey. "We've had some offers from people who want to buy us out, a few pretty big ones," she says, "and I've had lots of job offers for when I've graduated from college, but I'm not interested right now," she says. "I'm having too much fun working on the site."

- 1p 4 Wat wordt er over Catherine gezegd in alinea 1?
A Ze heeft samen met anderen een succesvolle website opgericht.

Winning football referee

(1) A football referee has been praised for the way he handled a local match. Referee Ben Davies was in charge of the game between Highfield Rangers and Ibstock United in the Under 12s League in Leicester. In the second half a shot of an Ibstock United player hit the referee and went past the Highfield keeper into the goal. It was the only goal scored in the game.

(2) Mr Davies said: "I used to be a goalkeeper myself, so I didn't get a chance to score many goals in my life. I didn't expect this to happen. I was almost certain it was the right decision to let the goal stand. I discussed it with the Football Association after the game. The Highfield parents did not agree with my decision, but I knew I was right. Even if a dog ran on the field and scored, it would have counted. That's the rules!"

(3) A Football Association spokesman said: "He was brilliant and handled a difficult game very well. He was right to let the goal stand but I'm sure many other referees wouldn't have done it."

- 1p 9 Wat gebeurde er tijdens de voetbalwedstrijd tussen Highfield Rangers en Ibstock United, volgens alinea 1?
- A De bal raakte de scheidsrechter en belandde in het doel.
 - B De keeper van Highfield Rangers scoorde een eigen doelpunt.
 - C De scheidsrechter werd geschopt door een speler van Ibstock United.
- 1p 10 Welke bewering over de scheidsrechter is juist, volgens alinea 2?
- A Hij heeft vroeger als voetballer veel doelpunten gemaakt.
 - B Hij kreeg de volledige steun van de ouders van de Highfield spelers.
 - C Hij was er vrij zeker van dat het doelpunt geldig was.
- 1p 11 Hoe reageerde een woordvoerder van de voetbalbond op de beslissing van de scheidsrechter Ben Davies, volgens alinea 3?
- Hij vond dat de heer Davies
- A de juiste beslissing had genomen door het doelpunt te laten tellen.
 - B eerst had moeten overleggen met de andere scheidsrechters.
 - C volgens de officiële regels het doelpunt had moeten afkeuren.
- 1p 12 Wat was de einduitslag van de wedstrijd Highfield Rangers-Ibstock United?
- A Dat kun je niet uit de tekst opmaken.
 - B Highfield Rangers won met 1-0.
 - C Het was 1-1 gelijkspel.
 - D Ibstock United won met 0-1.

New safety campaign

Traffic is the single biggest cause of accidental death for 12- to 16-year-olds. In 2007, 46 teens aged 12-16 were killed as pedestrians on Britain's roads along with 1,407 serious injuries and 6,013 slight injuries.

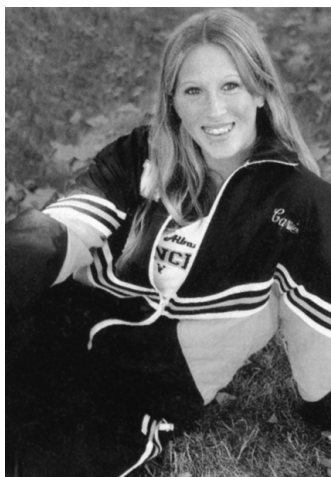

Six out of ten teens have either been in an accident or know someone at school who has been. Teens get distracted when they cross the road by talking and having fun with their friends, using their mobile phones, listening to music, or just thinking about something else.

The aim of the new campaign is to make teenagers aware of the dangers of not concentrating on what they are doing when they step off the pavement.

My handicap has made me stronger

- 1 I was very surprised when my friend Jamie told me that Brian liked me. She told me he was going to ask me to dance with him at the school party that night so I couldn't wait for the evening. I'm on the dance team, so it is clear that I'm not shy about dancing and I was totally excited that Brian wanted to dance with me.

- 2 When I spotted him coming across the dance floor towards me, I tried to act cool. I lifted my head to smile at him. And then it happened. He suddenly stopped walking and turned away. I stood there, frowning for a moment and checking myself. Did I have lipstick on my teeth? No. All was fine. And that was when it hit me. He must have seen ... my hearing aid.
- 3 I've got hearing problems since I was four months old. It left me with no hearing in my left ear, and a hearing loss in my right. With my hearing aid on, I can catch about 75% of what is said. I use lip-reading to fill in the rest.
- 4 Of course, it's not easy, especially when I'm trying to follow a group conversation. People turn their faces away while they speak and I'm often saying, "What? What did she say?" But I deal with it. Dance practice can be difficult too. I've had to put up with my coaches yelling at me for being off-beat. But I learn routines by staying in the back row and watching the others.
- 5 My speech isn't perfect, either. It is hard for me to make the sounds I can't hear (like "s") and people think I have an accent or that I'm stupid. But I don't care. Instead I focus on the people who are worth my time. Like Jamie.
- 6 That night at the school party, Jamie and a few other friends marched over to Brian and said, "Carrie's not frustrated by her hearing aid and won't ever be frustrated by people like you!" They're right! There are guys who won't judge me. And who knows? Maybe one day one of them will ask me to dance!

Embarrassing moments

1 "I was in my fave shop with my mates one day, but was too lazy to walk upstairs so I told my friends to go on up while I took the lift. I walked in and waited, and it took me a while to realise that the lift wasn't moving. I completely panicked and pushed the emergency alarm button, and when the doors opened a few minutes later there was a huge crowd of people. It turns out I'd forgotten to press the first floor button – cringe!"

Siobhan, Northern Ireland

2 "My mate and I thought it would be really funny to film ourselves being silly on my camera phone, so we were showing off doing funny dances and pulling faces. We decided to send it to our other mate for a joke, but somehow we managed to send it to a boy – who happens to be my crush – by accident. He sent it to everyone in school and they all got a good chuckle out of it. Oh no!"

Becca, South Essex

3 "I was texting my friend the other day about how much I like a boy in our class but, by accident, I sent the message to him! I totally panicked and to make matters worse he came up to me at school the next day and said I wasn't his type! Oh, the shame!"

Shout fan, Gwynedd

4 "I was at a sleepover when my best friend dared me to go outside wearing a blonde wig, holding a Barbie doll and sing 'I'm a Barbie girl!' at the top of my voice. I had just started singing when the biggest gossip in the whole school walked past! She started to laugh, and by the time Monday came it was all over the school. Not only does everyone call me 'Barbie' now, but they also ask me where Ken is... Aaagh!"

Manon, North Wales

Tekst 10

- 2p 22 Geef bij elke bewering aan of deze juist of onjuist is volgens de tekst. Omcirkel 'juist' of 'onjuist' in je uitwerkbijlage.
- 1 Als er verf op je huid komt, kun je dat met alcohol weghalen.
 - 2 Verf je wenkbrauwen meteen mee in dezelfde kleur als je haar.

Hair Dying Mistakes

- 1 Over-dying hair
If you did not achieve the desired effect, using Liquid Tide can correct this. A couple of days of use will lighten the colour until your hair returns to the original colour.
- 2 Dying eyebrows and eyelashes
Never use hair dye on eyebrows and eyelashes! Ask for medical help when dye gets into your eyes.
- 3 Losing hair
After dying, always rinse with cold or lukewarm water to avoid your hair from falling out.
- 4 Staining your skin or clothes
Protect your skin by wrapping a towel around your neck as the dye can irritate your skin or affect your clothes. Gloves should be used and must be included in a hair dye kit. If you do happen to stain your skin, don't worry, rubbing alcohol will remove dye stains from your skin.
- 5 Forgetting to check for allergic contents
After choosing a brand, apply a tiny amount of hair dye near your neck or behind your ear to see if irritation, allergy, hair loss or any bad reactions occur. Wash the affected area right away if this happens.
- 6 Using hair conditioner before you dye
Do not condition your hair a few hours before applying hair dye. Your hair needs to be free of dirt and oil.
- 7 Applying dye to dirty, tangled hair
Be sure your hair is clean before applying. Hair should be slightly damp when dye is applied.

MIND & BODY Sound damage

If the music in a pub or club is so loud that you can't talk to someone sitting two metres away without shouting, it is probably damaging your hearing. An Australian survey found that people who spend more than six hours a week in places with music that makes normal speech impossible, will have a hearing problem.

Tekst 12

Je leest de ingezonden brief van Ruth in een tijdschrift.

I wish I could turn back time....

- 1 "I have been best mates with Gemma since the first day of primary school. From then on, we were inseparable. When we started high school, Gemma started to get teased about her red hair. At first it seemed like a harmless joke. I told Gemma just to laugh along with the bullies, and I did the same.
- 2 The bullying got worse and worse. But I did nothing to help Gemma. Sure, I was there for her after school, but in the classroom or the school grounds - I just continued to laugh along with the bullies. I never stood up and said that it was wrong what they were doing. I never reported them to the teachers. I never had the courage to put my arm around Gemma and walk away. I was as bad as the bullies themselves.
- 3 I don't know why I didn't do anything to help my best friend. Maybe I was scared to speak up, frightened the same thing would happen to me. I should have realised that by doing nothing, I was hurting her just as much. I think my behaviour has destroyed the close bond we once had. I'll never forgive myself for being such a coward."

- A moed
 - B spijt

More male school teachers needed

More male teachers are needed if boys are to get the best out of primary school. This year's exam results show that many boys are still underachieving. A new survey found that boys find it easier to talk to male teachers than female ones, and they worked harder if a man was telling them what to do. The survey also found that boys were more likely to go to a male teacher for help with problems like bullying. At the moment just over one in 10 of primary school teachers are male, and education experts want more to apply. The survey came up with its results after asking more than 1,000 adult men about their time at primary school. Half of the adults asked said that a male teacher had been an important role model in their life.

Tekst 15

- 1p 29 Rory heeft de auto van zijn vader kapot gemaakt.
→ Hoe heeft hij dat gedaan?

I usually drive my grandma's old diesel car, but I had a date with my new girlfriend, so persuaded my dad to lend me his flashy car for the night. It needed petrol, so I put in half a tank and drove off. By the time I got to my girlfriend's house, the car was jerking madly and smoke was coming out of the back. Her dad had to call the AA¹⁾, who told me the car would need a new engine because 'somebody' had put diesel in rather than petrol. I'm still paying my dad back.

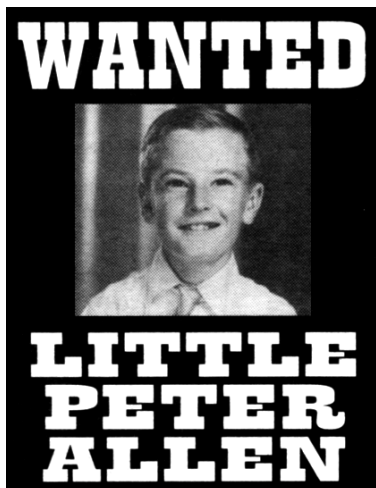

Rory, 18, Devon
