Protect yourself

The best way of staying safe on the streets is by avoiding potentially dangerous situations. Getting involved in a fight should be your last resort!

Headphones and mobile phones make it harder to keep your mind on your surroundings or to hear trouble approaching. Take them off when you travel.

Give up your purse or bag - it can be replaced.

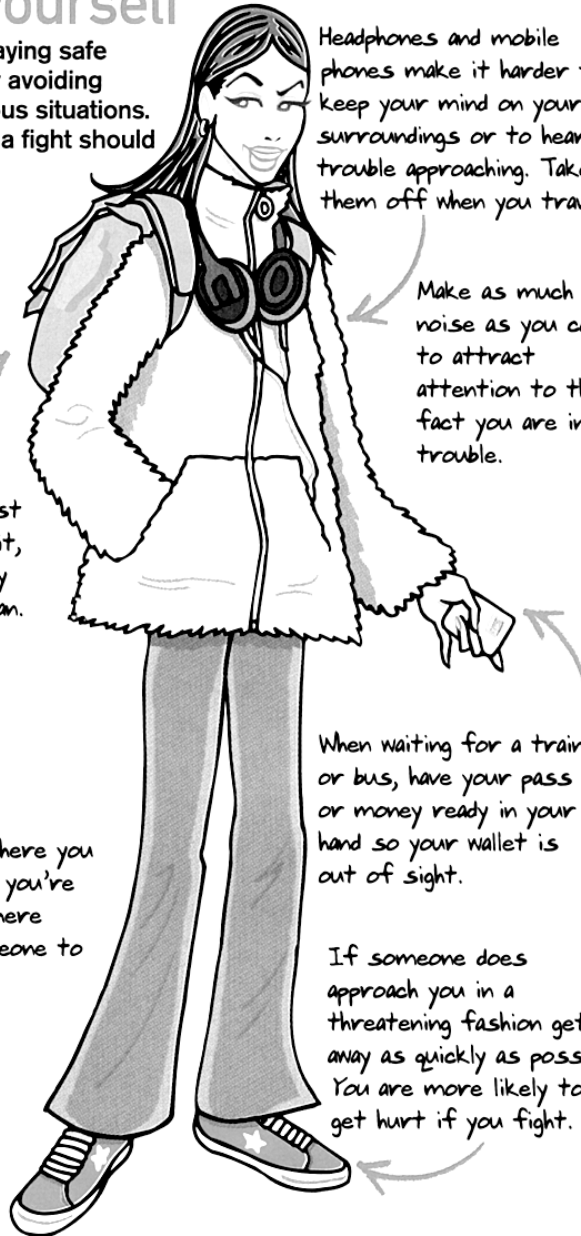

Make as much noise as you can to attract attention to the fact you are in trouble.

Always take the route you know best and stick to well-lit, busy streets. Stay in a group if you can.

When waiting for a train or bus, have your pass or money ready in your hand so your wallet is out of sight.

Let people know where you are going and when you're going to arrive. Where possible, get someone to meet you.

If someone does approach you in a threatening fashion get away as quickly as possible. You are more likely to get hurt if you fight.

who are changing the world

Name Rachael Goodman, 17, from Welshpool, mid Wales
How are you changing the world? I raise money for World Vision to put an end to child poverty. I also won a competition to put across young people's views at a child labour conference in Geneva.
Why? Children have a right to a decent childhood.
Highlight? Geneva; they were so interested in my ideas.

Name Mariama Ifode, 19, from Willesden, north London
How are you changing the world? I work with children's rights charity Free The Children International. I talk to schools about getting young people's voices heard.
Why? Young people should have a say on issues that affect them.
Highlight? When I talk at a school and someone says, "Wow! I can't believe you're my age!"

Name Rosalind Slater, 19, from Ealing, west London
How are you changing the world? Last summer I travelled to Zambia with the charity World Vision. I did voluntary work in a school and helped out in the community.
Why? Going to Zambia made me realise how other people live, and that we should all help those less fortunate than ourselves.
Highlight? Meeting people from a different culture, and seeing how resourceful the community was.

Name Laura Smith, 14, from South Hylton, Sunderland
How are you changing the world? As part of a group called Drugbuster. We've made a CD-Rom about how drugs can ruin your life, and we give talks to local young people too.
Why? I want to help young people avoid drug abuse.
Highlight? I love working with people, so everything is a highlight!

Name Emma Lawson, 16, from Brandon, Durham
How are you changing the world? I set up a group to provide young people with things to do.
Why? We got bored as there was nothing to do in my area after school. So I drew up a questionnaire, then set up a drop-in youth centre in a local hall for kids to go to.
Highlight? Spending 24 hours locked in a prison cell to raise money for the centre and winning an award.

How did a nice girl like this end up taking heroin?

You'd never guess now, but Zoe Clarke, 16, spent two years addicted to heroin. It cost her £500 a day and nearly killed her. But somehow she found the strength to fight back. This is her story...

Zoe, aged 9, before first trying heroin

- 1 “ I was a normal 13-year-old schoolgirl when I met Katy. I grew up in Sheffield with my mum and two brothers. I'd never had any close friends before, but Katy and I could talk about anything. We were party girls and loved getting ready to go out. We used to share clothes and make-up. We were 'best friends'. It was with Katy that I first took heroin.
- 2 One day the two of us went to visit a boy I knew because I had been babysitting his little sister. He was older than us, in his 20s, and he had some heroin with him. He offered Katy some and she said she'd take it if I did. I don't know why I said I'd try. It sounds strange now, but it just seemed like something to do.
- 3 I took heroin the next day and the next. A week after I had first taken heroin I woke up sniffing, I was sweating, my legs hurt and I had cramps. I took heroin again and it took some of the pain away. I tried not taking any for a day, but I couldn't stop myself. For the next two years my life was all about drugs. I had sores around my mouth and open wounds on my arms and legs, but still I didn't stop.
- 4 After a year Mum found out that I was taking drugs. I'd had a 'dirty hit' – that is when some dirt gets into the injection, like dust for example. It can kill you. I lost consciousness and couldn't move. Mum found me in my room. Luckily a friend of my mum's, who is a nurse, came and saved my life. Mum was very upset, but even that didn't make me want to give up drugs.

- 5 I was 15 when the police caught me with £700-worth of heroin. In court a social worker suggested a rehab¹. Mum said I should go. I didn't want to get off heroin, but I love my Mum so much, I'd do anything for her, so I went.

- 6 I was there for three months and it was the most difficult thing I've ever done. I was very sick all the time. Mum wrote to me every day telling me I could stop using drugs and that kept me going. It took me another year living in a small care home to live without drugs.

- 7 Now I like my life again. What I really want to be is a drug counsellor, telling school kids how dangerous drugs really are. I think I'd be able to help young people because I've been through it all. Going into a rehab saved my life. And I don't care how much pain I went through – it's been worth it in the end. **”

Zoe finally agreed to go to rehab when her mum said she wanted her little girl back. Today she's clean and wants to work as a drug counsellor

Houston Horror

☀ Fans were amazed at a recent Whitney Houston concert, when the singer forgot the words! After stuttering the words to I Wanna Dance With Somebody, Whit stopped halfway through and apologised to her audience. She then quit I Will Always Love You, after just six words, saying her voice wasn't "up to it". Whitney, who has been fending-off drug rumours, has also been dropped from this year's Oscars after she appeared "completely out of it" and struggled to climb some stairs at a rehearsal for the show. Oh dear...

TEKST 7

- 1p ○ 15 → Wat kun je volgens dit artikel doen met een oude spijkerbroek?

DIY²⁾ diva

Don't go splashing out all your cash on customised denim, all you need is a bit of DIY know-how. For a pair of jeans that nobody else will have, simply splash bleach onto an old pair. (You have to be very careful with this one – wear rubber gloves and avoid any contact with the skin and read instructions carefully!)

noot 2 DIY = Do-It-Yourself

Tina Henshaw, 31, is Market Harborough's first woman FIREFIGHTER

1 It sounds boring, but I decided to become a firefighter because I wanted to be useful to the community. You need a fit body because of all the heavy equipment. I only weigh 54 kilos, so I spent hours at the gym, lifting weights to train my upper body.

2 I have to do the same things and train as much as the guys at work. That is exactly the way I wanted it. After our weekly training night, we usually go out together and relax. I'm always the only woman there. The guys talk about boys' things at times, but they never leave me out of the conversation.

3 As a firefighter, every call-out is different. I've been called out to a couple of car accidents. In one accident there was a man who was trapped in his car. I'm not a person who is easily shocked, so when I see something awful, I don't panic. So far I've kept a cool head. The crew depend on each other. We work as a team.

- 1p 16 → Waarom wilde Tina bij de brandweer gaan werken? (alinea 1)
- 1p 17 Waarom trainde Tina veel in de sportschool? (alinea 1)
 A Ze moest dat doen om snel en lenig te worden.
 B Ze vond dat ze wat te zwaar was en wilde afvallen.
 C Ze was nog niet sterk genoeg voor de zware brandweeruitrusting.
- 1p 18 Wat maakt Tina duidelijk over haar positie in het team? (alinea 2)
 A Ze hoeft niet precies dezelfde klussen te doen als de mannen.
 B Ze wordt door haar mannelijke collega's bij alle activiteiten betrokken.
 C Ze wordt vaak niet serieus genomen door haar mannelijke collega's.
- 1p 19 Wat zegt Tina over haar werk? (alinea 3)
 A Ze reageert altijd kalm en zelfverzekerd in moeilijke situaties.
 B Ze vindt het moeilijk om nare ervaringen snel te vergeten.
 C Ze vindt het vreselijk om bij verkeersongelukken te moeten helpen.

Rescuer with 117 problems

- 1 Diane Rogerson, who uses her own home in Huntingdon to house Thumpers Rabbit Rescue, has a big problem to solve! She has to find homes for 117 guinea pigs³⁾ she rescued at the beginning of this month.
- 2 On July 8th Diane was sent to a house in Huntingdon where she thought 30 animals needed her help. "I just thought 'oh my goodness!' when I saw how many there were," she said. "It took over two hours to catch them all. They were living in very dirty conditions and all of them were hungry and thirsty.
- 3 They had also never been kept apart, so all the females were pregnant as well." This means an extra problem for Diane because she is trying to reduce the number of animals at her rescue centre. "Every time I manage to find a home for one, another two or three are born," she says.
- 4 Thumpers Rabbit Rescue has been open for one-and-a-half years. At the moment the guinea pigs and fifty rabbits are waiting for new homes. Diane needs your help!
Anyone who wants to offer a good home to one of the guinea pigs or rabbits can contact Mrs Diane Rogerson on 01473 434902 to make an appointment to visit and have a look at the animals.

Hey Presto!

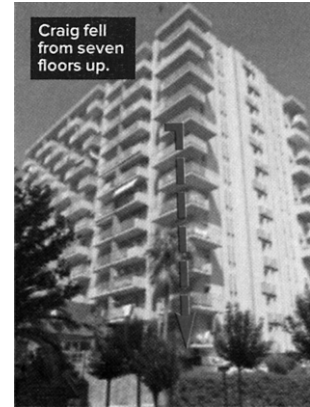

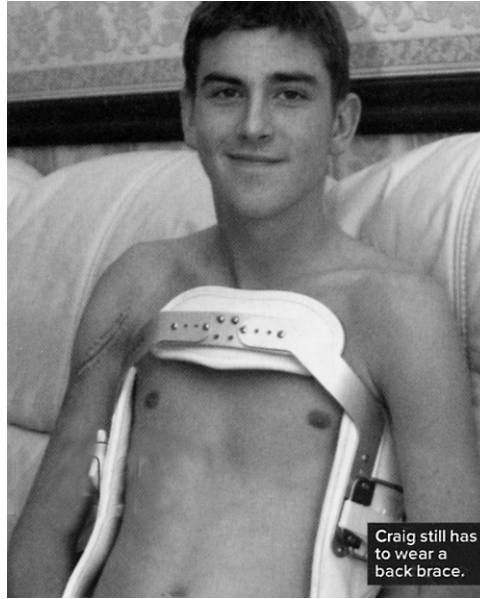

Thanks to the Presto, the incredible shrinking car from a Swiss car design firm, finding a car-parking space may never be a problem again. Drivers will never have to worry about whether their car will fit into a tight parking spot, because the Presto can downsize from 4 meters to 3 meters in length! The car shrinks by using an electric motor which transforms it from a four-seater to a two-seater, in seconds.

Sleepwalking almost killed me

When Craig, 15, went to Spain, he didn't think he'd be flying back on a stretcher...

- 1 This summer I went to Costa del Sol in Spain with my family and my best mate, Lee. I was so excited - this was going to be the best holiday ever! We were staying on the seventh floor of the hotel – all in the same room. It was a bit of a squeeze, but I didn't care. We would only be in the room to sleep.
- 2 On the first night, we went out to dinner for my brother Jamie's birthday. When we got back to the hotel I was very tired and fell asleep straight away.
- 3 The next thing I remember is waking up in a strange room. Doctors were rushing around me, shouting. Where was I? I couldn't remember a thing and I couldn't move my legs. Suddenly I felt terrified. What had happened to me? Two doctors started asking me

Craig fell from seven floors up.

Craig still has to wear a back brace.

- 4 things in Spanish, but I couldn't understand them. One of the doctors fetched someone who could speak English who told me I was in hospital and that I'd had a bad accident – I'd broken my back!
- 4 Terrible thoughts came into my head. Would I be paralysed for ever? The English-speaking man told me that I had only broken a bone in my back and I would still be able to walk. I told him the name of the hotel and he went off to call my parents.
- 5 I fell asleep and when I woke up again Mum and Dad were by my bed. They told me that a Spanish lady had

- 6 found me lying unconscious on the grass outside our hotel. She had called an ambulance. Dad realised what must have happened. I sleepwalk a lot at home, so I must have sleepwalked off the balcony! The doctors told me that I'd been fast asleep, so my body had been relaxed. That's why I wasn't hurt too badly.
- 6 I spent the rest of the holiday in hospital. I had a metal plate put in my back and I have to wear a back brace. It's November now, but I won't be able to go back to school till after Christmas, so I'm having lessons at home now. I won't be able to play any sport for six months. I feel handicapped, but I can't complain – I am lucky just to be alive.

...tell a stranger she had toilet paper hanging out of her pants?

"This also happened to me once in junior high, and no one told me! So, yeah, it was my duty to tell her!"

Ryan, 19

"I really wanted to tell her – I really did. But I thought it was meant to be there because that's a serious piece of toilet paper."

Hans, 20

"I'm glad I saved her from an embarrassing situation – I caught her just as she was leaving the bathroom. I told her she always needs to check!"

Ann, 17

"I generally mind my own business, which is why I didn't tell her. But I had to laugh because it was too funny."

Maria, 19
